Welborn Sullivan Meck & Tooley Elects New Shareholders and Special Counsel and Adds 5 Associates

February 2018 (Casper, WY/Denver, CO) Welborn Sullivan Meck & Tooley, P.C. is pleased to announce that Sam Bacon, Sarah Sorum and Alaina Stedillie have become Shareholders of the firm, all effective January 1, 2018. Mr. Bacon is a member of the firm's litigation department in Denver and represents companies in a wide range of complex civil litigation. Ms. Sorum specializes in mineral title examination in Colorado, Wyoming and North Dakota, and also handles a variety of operational matters for oil and gas clients. Ms. Stedillie is a commercial litigator in the firm's Casper, Wyoming office.

In addition, Patrick Tolley in the firm's Casper office has been named Special Counsel of the firm. Mr. Tolley's practice focuses on mineral title examination in both Wyoming and Colorado, litigation and estate planning.

Effective January 1, 2018, Nancy Peterson has joined Welborn Sullivan Meck & Tooley as special counsel. Her practice focuses on estate planning, probate, trust administration, guardianships and conservatorships.

The firm recently hired 5 associates in its Denver office: Geoffrey Storm, Mallory Hasbrook, John Hegarty, Josh Murphy and Grace Fox. Geoffrey Storm, a former landman, focuses on regulatory matters before the Colorado Oil and Gas Conservation Commission and oil and gas operational matters. Mallory Hasbrook practices mineral title examination and estate planning. John Hegarty, a former landman, advises clients on oil and gas transactional matters, commercial real estate issues, and general business planning. Josh Murphy, also a former landman, practices mineral title examination. Finally, Grace Fox recently joined the firm as a commercial litigation associate after practicing in the Chicago office of a large international law firm and a Denver litigation boutique firm.

Amy Seneshen, managing partner of Welborn Sullivan Meck & Tooley, said, “We are extremely fortunate to have such a talented group of new Shareholders, Special Counsel and associates. As the firm celebrates its 25th anniversary this year, it’s clear we are well-positioned for the future with significant depth in our litigation, title and transactional teams.”

Welborn Sullivan Meck & Tooley, P.C. is an established leader in energy, business transactions and litigation. With offices in Denver, Colorado and Casper, Wyoming, the firm’s attorneys serve clients throughout the world. For more information: www.wsmtlaw.com.
